Work on S. Prospect-st

The first step in the resurfacing of S. Prospect-st from the end of the present paving at Edgewood-dr to the corporation line, was taken by City Council at its meeting last night when a resolution declaring the necessity of the improvement was passed. Put in six years ago as a joint project by the city and county, the concrete base has begun to deteriorate and it is the fear of council that unless some action is taken shortly the base will have to be replaced. It is expected that asphalt will be used in order to make the new section of the street harmonize with the old.

Council also passed a resolution authorizing the service director to enter into an agreement with the Pennsylvania railroad for the removal of the sidetrack that now crosses W. Central-st east of the main track. The side track was put in by the company a number of years ago and was known as the Leader Shop siding. It is now in disuse.

The railroad company, it was stated in a communication to council by City Engineer Tom S. Gathers, favors the removal of the track on condition that it will be allowed to replace it in event it should ever be needed. This provision, it is said, will be a part of the agreement.

BODY OF VIOLA MAY
IS FOUND IN RIVERMurder Charge Against William Herron Likely to Be Heard Today

Dover, March 27—Murder charges pending against William Herron, New Philadelphia, were to be heard today, following the discovery of the body of Miss Viola May, 23, in the Muscara was River, late yesterday. The girl had been missing since Feb. 7. Her body was found lodged in a tree where the river skirts the industrial section of the town.

According to a confession reported to have been made by Herron the day after the girl's disappearance, she was choked to death by him after an attack upon her. Herron, who was her brother-in-law, at first reported that he and the girl had been attacked by robbers, but later told authorities he threw her body into the river when he learned she was dead.

Herron was accompanying the girl to her residence from his home in the night of Feb. 7, after she had visited her sister, Herron's wife.

Reports of physicians who examined the girl's body are expected to be withheld, though the examination is said to have indicated that the girl was dead when her body was thrown into the water, and that no evidence of an attack was found.

The girl's wrist watch and 37 were found on the body.

Miss May will be buried tomorrow afternoon following private funeral services at the Jerusalem Reformed Church of which she was a life long member. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

TRIAL OF SIX FOLSOM

CONVICTS MARKS TIME

Sacramento, Cal., March 27.—The trial of the six Folsom convict mutiny leaders on charges of murdering George Baker, prison trustee, during the uprising at Folsom State Prison last Thanksgiving, marked time here today as a result of the exhaustion of the first jury panel.

Superior Judge Glenn continued the trial until tomorrow, calling a second jury panel of 50 men and women to court.

The six mutiny leaders are already under sentence of life imprisonment for the killing of Guard Ray Singleton during the frustrated break.

According to official estimates Washington has more water power available than any other state, followed in order by California, Oregon and New York.

PLANS FOR HIGHWAY APPROVED BY BOARD

Plans for the Somerlot-Huffman road to be received and opened April 19

The Somerlot-Huffman road, which will connect the Marion-Delaware road with the Marion-Delaware road, was approved by the Board of Commissioners at the final meeting of the board yesterday. The road is to be opened on April 19 at 2 o'clock as the first of a series of roads to be opened.

The improvement is one of the road projects included in the commissioners' report on the schedule of work recently announced for this year.

The section to be improved is 1.9 miles in length and extends from the east to the Marion-Delaware road, connecting with that thoroughfare about six miles south of the city. County Surveyor Levens has estimated the cost at $12,000.

The road is to be of macadam, 12 feet in width.

In their action taken yesterday the commissioners approved plans, specifications and estimates, including estimated assessments.

The contract will provide for starting the work on or before June 1 and completion of the improvement by Sept. 1.

New spring wall papers are now in and we are ready to show you our patterns. C. L. Murphy, 126 S. Main St.—Adv.

Federal Investigation of Deneen and Swanson Home Bombings Are Promised

Front Porch and Large Part of Senator's Palatial Residence Demolished While Similar Blast Occurs as Judge Parks His Auto in Front of House

Chicago, March 27—Federal investigation of the bombings which last night wrecked the homes of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson were promised today by United States District Attorney George F. Q. Johnson.

The front porch and a large section of the front of Senator Deneen's palatial two-story residence were demolished by a powerful dynamite bomb, exploded shortly before midnight.

Twenty minutes later a similar blast damaged the home of Judge Swanson, a candidate under the Deneen Republican banner for state's attorney of Cook County. The second blast was believed aimed at Judge Swanson in an effort to assassinate him.

No member of either household sustained injuries, but several in the front of buildings collapsed from shock and were reported today in critical condition.

Senator Deneen was not at home, having departed for Washington after attending the funeral here of "Diamond Joe" Esposito, Deneen's twenty-fifth ward leader who was felled last Wednesday night by 58 slugs from gangsters guns.

Steps from Car
Senator Deneen's sister, Miss Florence Deneen, and a maid were alone in the house when the bomb exploded. Judge Swanson had just parked his car in front of his home and had started toward the entrance when the second blast went off. The bomb was hurled by men who sped past the house in an automobile. Judge Swanson declared he is convinced the bomb was intended for him. It struck the house and bounded back into the yard where it exploded. Damage to his house was estimated at $4,000.

The home at the time was his wife and small children and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Klass.

The bomb outrages are attributed to the bitter political feud between Illinois Republican factions headed on one side by Senator Deneen and on the other by Gov. Len Small, Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago, and State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

As soon as he learned of the bombings State's Attorney Crowe announced a reward of $10,000 would be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

In a formal statement, Crowe declared it was his belief that the bombings were done by leaders in the Deneen organization and by the same people responsible for similar attacks several weeks ago on the homes of Rev. Elmer L. Williams and Anthony Carnevali.

Informed of Bombing
Senator Deneen was informed of the bombing while aboard the train carrying him to Washington. The message assured him of the safety of his sister. He promised a statement upon his arrival in Washington where Mrs. Deneen and other members of his family are awaiting him.

In promising the federal investigation, District Attorney Johnson said: "Inasmuch as Senator Deneen's residence is the official home of an officer of the United States, I shall use my office to investigate the outrage."

Today the home of every Deneen leader in the city was placed under heavy guard. Plain clothes men were stationed on the premises and detectives be lights for the six corners in the downtown district.

The finance committee of council in making up the budget for 1929, early in January, set aside $3,000 to be used for the purchase of traffic lights. Figures submitted in the bids of manufacturers of traffic lights, however, opened by the board of control two weeks ago, showed that it would be impossible to install a system such as would be needed here for $3,000 and it was necessary to obtain more money.

Five hundred dollars left over from the money provided for the new heating plant at Central Fire Station, furnished part of the shortage.

It was expected the contract for the lights will be awarded shortly and while no official announcement as to the type to be selected, has been made, it is the general opinion that the arm type will be adopted.

DAILY TESTS OF CITY WATER ARE PROVIDED

City Council to Keep Continuous Check of Degree of Hardness

Daily tests of the city water to determine the degree of hardness, were provided for by City Council at its meeting last night, when an ordinance instructing the service director to cause such tests to be made, was passed.

While the ordinance did not designate who is to make these tests, it is generally supposed they will be made by Floyd Browne, chemist and superintendent at the sewage disposal plant. The tests will be made of water drawn from an opening as near the center of the city as possible and a record will be kept to be used in case of any controversy over the matter.

Council also passed an ordinance authorizing the director of public service to advertise for bids for a two-ton truck to be used by his department and also transferred the sum of $44.59 from the contingent account of the general fund to the park fund to pay bills which had been standing for some time.

Members of the finance committee of City Council together with the city solicitor were appointed on a committee by President Emory Murphy at the meeting of City Council last night to serve with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in its campaign for establishing an airport here.

In a letter addressed to City Council signed by Kenneth M. Clutter, as secretary of the chamber, it was requested that a committee be appointed to assist in bringing about the project.

A petition signed by 32 property owners asking for the paving of Homer-st from Center to Church-sts, was presented to council last night. The petition was referred to the street and alley committee for investigation.

GROWTH OF MARION TRACED IN ADDRESS

Judge George B. Scofield Contrasts Village of 50 Years Ago With Today

at George's, the south at Pleasant, the west line near Campbell and the east at Baker.

Judge Scofield's father purchased a home at that time just outside the west corporation limit on what is now Center-st, paying a price of about $20 a foot front for the land. The same land today, the judge stated, is valued at more than $400 a foot.

There were no factories in the city then and only one railroad. The judge compared this with the Marion of today, ranking as one of Ohio's leading industrial centers provided with the best of transportation facilities.

He showed that the same advantages and resources which have made the remarkable progress of the last half century possibly are greatly surpassed with the possibilities available at this time.

"Have Everything"

"We have everything necessary for becoming a bigger and better community," he stated. "No city in the state has financial institutions better equipped to take care of growth and development along all lines.

"The one thing which we need, as it appears to me at this time, is some directing agency to take charge of affairs and act as a pilot."

The judge expressed the belief that this essential agency can be provided by an organization like the new Marion Civic Association.

When you go out along these beautiful roads around Marion next summer and you see the waving fields of living grain, remember that down underneath every field of living grain is a field of dead grain, dead in order that there might be another field of living grain. That's the way God made the world. If at the end you look back only on what you have got, you might just as well quit now, for it isn't worth finishing. I want to say this, that we cannot live our lives alone, we must live them co-operatively. It used to be that we were more or less isolated, but a man cannot have a small mind any longer. We are living in terms of close social and personal contact and it is perfectly marvelous. It is not so far back when every man was the enemy of every other man. Contrast that with a city of people living as we are living today, trying to live together in terms of understanding and good will.

Ideal of Democracy

A second time we turned the corner with the great ideal of democracy, a democracy of the people, by the people and for the people. What does that mean? It means giving up personal liberty. You can not have a democracy without giving up personal liberty for the greater good. That is the way we have made progress, giving up personal liberty for the greater good of the greater number. The record of the whole thing is this: that we have been learning to live together co-operatively for the good of our cities and for the good of our nation and for the good of the world.

We must live together in such a way that will make the movement one of forward advancement and progress. We will always have to fight that wall of ignorance. Another enemy of this large freedom is indifference to the whole program, not much interested in which is said or done.

The third time we turn the corner is when we made these wonderful discoveries along the line of science. As I came down the roads this afternoon, I noticed machinery doing the heavy work, a farmer sitting on a tractor dragging three or four plows, the machinery doing the heavy work. It was not always like this, but nowadays a man of fifty is just beginning to get hold of things, while only a few years ago men and women were broken down before they were that old. If we are going to make any discoveries we had better follow nature's laws and habits and methods. Every invention and discovery we have come this way, by following nature's laws—electricity, the power of communication and everything we have in this age in which you and I are living. You and I are living in the age of production. We have one concern in the city of Toledo that hires 20,000 men. I spoke to their foremen the other day, think of it 700 foremen. Think how it must have been all thought and worked out to have such a plant running systematically.

Days of Competition

These are days of competition and things have to be economically worked out according to a program to a law of economy. You can not even keep out of the divorce courts nowadays unless you have a budget. That's the way we are working our city program today, the way our cities are giving themselves to the whole program of making a city economically safe, so that the influence of the citizens is being loaned to the city fathers, in order that a city may have the best kind of streets, the most beautiful buildings, and that's the way you want Marion so that when people stop here they will say, "This is a beautiful city, I would love to live in Marion."

You don't have to be as big as Toledo or Cleveland to do it. It doesn't make any difference about the size of the city, it's what you do and what you are looking forward to doing; that is the challenge of this hour, and I want to say it has been a great pleasure to look into your faces tonight just to inspire you with the things that inspire me. It is a great thing to be alive in an age like this, and there isn't one of us but can have a part in making this a bigger and better and happier Marion.

Toad That Hops From Mud Ball May Be—W. School

DENVER, March 27—City Park Museum here was a popular place for curiosity seekers today because of the arrival of a toad estimated to be three-fourths of a million years old.

When a mud ball was received yesterday from A. H. Holloman of Frederick, Okla., Harold J. Cook, honorary curator, opened it to find what was inside. To his great surprise, out hopped a toad, apparently in normal physical condition.

Officials of the museum said they have no reason to believe the incident is a hoax on the part of the Oklahoma quarry owner. Cook was willing to explain his reason for placing the estimate on the age of the mud ball and toad. "The mud ball bears unmistakable evidence of belonging to the first interglacial or alluvial period," he said. "That would make it about three-quarters of a million years old."

THREE LOG WAGON DRIVERS ARRESTED

Deputy Vane Ireland Continues Campaign to Enforce Load Limit Rules

Continuing his campaign for enforcement of the rules limiting the weight of conveyances traveling over county roads, Deputy Sheriff Vane Ireland yesterday arrested two log wagon drivers west of Green Camp, making a total of three arrests within a week.

The men taken into custody yesterday were Frank Butts and S. E. Cameron, drivers for the Gast sawmill at Prospect. Both pleaded guilty when they appeared before Probate Judge McNeal this morning and were fined $25 and costs each. They paid and were released.

Both men were in charge of horse-drawn wagons loaded with logs for the mill. The wagon driven by Butts was a ton and 600 pounds in excess of the legal limit and Cameron's wagon showed an excess of two tons and 300 pounds, Ireland reported.

Both wagons were weighed on the road on a "loadometer" which the county commissioners recently bought for Ireland for use in checking up the weight of conveyances.

Maximum load limits permitted by law were recently reduced 50 per cent. by the commissioners. This reduction is to be in effect at all seasons of the year when weather conditions make the roads especially liable to damage.

A local truck driver arrested last week was the first violator of the load limit rule to be brought into court.

FORMER MARION MAN PROMOTED BY ERIE

Ray C. Randall Named Assistant Division Superintendent at Chicago

Word has been received here announcing the promotion of Ray C. Randall, former Marion man, to the position of assistant division superintendent of the Erie railroad with headquarters in Chicago. He has been division trainmaster during the last two years.

Advancement of Randall to his new position is another step upward in his service with the Erie, which began about 20 years ago when he entered the company's employment here as a clerk in the yard office.

His first important position was as assistant yardmaster here. Later he became yardmaster and six years ago was transferred to Hammond, Ind., and given the same position there, placing him in charge of the large terminal yards.

He was promoted to trainmaster two years ago.

Randall's home is now in Hammond. Early bird gets the worm and by 9 o'clock he is so full of worms he can't join in the forest choir.

DRINK WATER WHEN KIDNEYS HURT YOU

Take Glass of Salts If Your Back Aches or Bladder Troubles You

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, moving all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach aches, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, chasms often get sore, water seals and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

speculators. At such times as the present people who never before thought of dabbling in stocks begin to nibble. If they win, the immediately become publicity agents for the stock game. If they lose, they keep it quiet. We believe we have heard of millions of dollars won at cards, but we can't recall ever having heard of any parading of card losses. And so it is in stocks. If the investor loses, he doesn't care to have it noised about, though his friends and acquaintances may consider him easy. Thus we do not hear of the losses, but only of the gains, yet, if one but stops to consider for a moment, it is inevitable that there must be losses where there are stock market gains. A dollar is never won in an gambling proposition that a dollar is not lost. Where the multitude is misled is that it does not hear of the dollar lost.

They brought me a black hat today
You always hated black
The time I bought a hat like this,
You made me send it back.
I have a yellow leghorn hat
With cornflowers round the crown.
You always said it made me look Like bronze instead of brown.
They brought me a black dress. I thought Of how you used to say
When I wore black "That's keep those weeds To wear when I'm away!"
And now you'll always be with me, You'll never have to go To busy places any more.
Oh, don't they, can't they know?
I want the sapphire satin dress
You buttoned up the back,
The yellow leghorn cornflower trimmed;
You always hated black.

Members of the junior club held a short business session following the program.

"Song of India," Rimsky Korsakoff, and "Serenade," Drigo were played by Miss Dorothy Cressap, cornet, Miss Elma Sage, saxophone, and Miss Dorothy Zieg, piano. Miss Juanita Miller at the piano gave MacDowell's "Hungarian," followed by Miss Alma Ruth Jacoby and Miss Margaret Duffy in a duo, "Polish Dance," Scharwenka. Miss Janice Laughman sang the only solo on the program, "Petite Flossie," Csek, accompanied by Miss Charlotte Courtney at the piano. A violin solo, "Cannanetta," was played by Miss Jenny Ferrugio, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Cressap.

Badly Crippled
With Rheumatism
Aches and Pains

"Konjola Is First Medicine To End My Health Troubles," She States.

MRS. JOHN MCCOY

"I was crippled with rheumatism for over four years and Konjola is the first medicine to end my health troubles," said Mrs. John McCoy, Route No. 2, Wadsworth, Ohio, (near Akron) "and I believe it is only right for me to endorse this surprising medicine."

"My limbs and back were full of constant, nagging pains and all the joints in my body were stiff and sore so that it was an effort for me to go up and down the stairs. There was a dull ache in my back and my head. Besides this rheumatism I suffered with stomach trouble and kidney trouble. I always felt miserable after meals, and even at night I was tormented with terrible stomach pains."

"Konjola quickly ended all this misery. It drove the rheumatic pains and poisons from my system and cleared up my stomach and kidney trouble. I have a good appetite, enjoy sound sleep at night and have plenty of energy to do all my own housework. Yes, I can certainly endorse such a medicine as this."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly endorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

Do Unto Your Hands as You Would Have Them
Do Unto You

By Edna Wallace Hopper
How many times it is said that a woman's hands betray her age. It is true, at least right now the pleasurable game of betraying your hands. The real truth behind the saying is that your hands will be kind to you if you show them a little consideration. It is simple.

I know that my hands have responded marvelously to it. Every time I wash them, in my theater dressing room, at the hotel, I promptly counteract the effect of soap and water by rubbing on briskly my Youth Hand Lotion.

This is a wonderful treat to the skin. Even the first application will show you. Your skin will absorb the lotion as quickly as a plant consumes moisture after the rainfall. It leaves your hands smooth and dry, and you can put on gloves immediately after using. Soft, white, lovely hands will be yours. You will realize how much your skin needs this soothing attention.

Always keep a bottle on your dressing table or bath room shelf. And most of all you need one where you work—whether your daily tasks are in the home or elsewhere.—Adv.

Old Fashioned Guests at Old Fashioned Dinner

Antiques including a Wedgewood platter more than 100 years old carried out the theme of the "old-fashioned" dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Foster last night at their home, E. Center-st. Guests were members of the Peppy Dinner Bridges Club and Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Anderson. Gaily-colored red tablecloths covered the table which was centered with an old-fashioned paper mache hen and Easter eggs in assorted colors and places were laid with wooden handled cutlery, antique tumblers and china-ware. Spoons were found in old time holders and places for the men were marked with "fluffy" moustache cups. Completing the decorations were an old-fashioned tureen, castor, and cake-stand and favors were old-fashioned stick candy tied with twine. The menu included ham and eggs, corn bread, baked potatoes, cole slaw, and marble cake. Ices, suggestive of the Easter season, coffee and rolls completed the dinner.

Costumes suggestive of the gay nineties were worn by the hosts and their guests and partners for dinner and cards were found by matching postcards. Awards for scores at cards were won by Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Anderson and Mrs. Norbert Sams and Paul Schwemley.

Assisting during the dinner hour were Mrs. M. A. Campbell of Mt. Gilead, mother of Mrs. Foster, and Mrs. F. L. Davis.

Old Fashioned Guests at

Antiques including a Wedgewood platter more than 100 years old carried out the theme of the "old-fashioned" dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Foster last night at their home, E. Center-st. Guests were members of the Peppy Dinner Bridges Club and Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Anderson. Gaily-colored red tablecloths covered the table which was centered with an old-fashioned paper mache hen and Easter eggs in assorted colors and places were laid with wooden handled cutlery, antique tumblers and china-ware. Spoons were found in old time holders and places for the men were marked with "fluffy" moustache cups. Completing the decorations were an old-fashioned tureen, castor, and cake-stand and favors were old-fashioned stick candy tied with twine. HE ISN'T CONSTIPATED ANY MORE

Thanks to Kellogg's wonderful ALL-BRAN

Mr. Grinslade wrote, of his own accord, to tell us how much he liked ALL-BRAN in relieving constipation.

June 1, 1927
"Just a few words to let the company know that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has done me a great deal of good. I was constipated for several years and I went to eating your PEP and ALL-BRAN. I am now rid of constipation and I will all due to the use of your products.
I would recommend it to anyone that bothered with constipation."

Yours truly,
H. M. GRINSLADE,
1139 Laguna Ave., Los Angeles

Constipation is a dreadful thing.
It undermines health. It steals appetite. Throbbing heads, aching backs, spots before the eyes, and complexions are just a few of its telltale symptoms.

Don't let it get in its deadly work on you. Protect yourself now.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to prevent and relieve constipation. A health cereal—ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. Doctors recommend it. Delicious with milk cream, or with fruit or honey dred. Eat two tablespoons daily—chronic cases, with every meal, is cooking. At all grocers.

HEALTH HINTS For Parents

The wise mother gives little heed to "st" for her growing girl or boy, and tries not at all about their bowels.
She puts up with the help, and none of the harm that's found in forming laxatives.

Have you a girl or boy whose food doesn't seem to nourish as it should?
Then eat the same things, and just add to the daily spoonful of this fruity syrup; watch them gain weight, see how their cheeks fill out, how appetite and assimilation improve. And a few drops will do remarkable things for an ailing infant.
Fruit Syrup is a purely vegetable product, so parents need have no fear in giving it to infants.
Fruit Syrup is not expectation. It's a healthy tonic, and a generous bottle. Just make certain it is the California product.
"California" is asking for it.

Try California Fig Syrup two weeks on any child, and let his altered appearance and actions tell the full story!

shine. After they leave the thought of having killed the dogs brings tears to her eyes. The new ranger appears and introduces himself as Anthony Garland. He talks to her, not knowing that Mason is inside. He loses his heart to her and pines for her lonely life.
Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER 7

"I UNDERSTAND perfectly. I didn't expect to be invited in," Garland interrupted smilingly. "I didn't know you were unchaperoned or I would have telephoned and asked permission to call."

"I'm not at all apprehensive of you, Mr. Garland. It's just a habit I have —a protective measure until I know you better. Jim Scully came by one day. He'd been fighting a fire all morning and was hungry and thirsty, so I invited him in for luncheon. He accepted—and who should ride up for a social call but the chief ranger and his cat of a wife. Jim was horribly embarrassed—he's such a shy old thing —and when he rode away Mrs. Chief Ranger assumed the prerogative of her 40 years and a natural tendency toward virtue to lecture me on my indiscretion."

"She said folks would talk about me if I wasn't more careful of the properties. Folks did. She led the gossip brigade. I am now rid of constipation and I will all due to the use of your products.
I would recommend it to anyone that
bothered with constipation."

"Immense and contemptuous, I dare say," he answered sympathetically.
"It shocked poor old Jim Scully so badly he never would look in on me again when passing by," Monica concluded.

"Why are you telling me all this?"
"Because you appear to be a gentleman, because you'll hear it all anyhow, and I prefer that you should hear it correctly."

"My dear girl, I heard it all yesterday. It made me curious to meet you, to see what there is about you that defied the efforts of the chief ranger's wife to have you dismissed as the lookout on Bogus."

Monica Dale laughed mirthlessly.
"You may rest assured it wasn't Christian charity, Mr. Garland. They couldn't get anybody else to take my place. The salary isn't sufficiently attractive to a man—and the chief ranger knows I'm conscientious about my work. And, of course, only a hill-woman can stand the solitude, the darkness and the silence—when the coyotes aren't yipping across the peaks at each other, and she-panthers aren't screaming through the woods."

Anthony Garland, first asking permission, thoughtfully loaded and lightened his pipe. From force of habit as a ranger he carefully extinguished the match, broke it into three pieces, dropped the pieces on the ground and buried them with the heel of his boot.

"You are a very remarkable young woman," he decided aloud. "Yes, you are."

"You speak as if you were quite an old gentleman yourself," she chided him. "How old are you? Thirty?"

"Twenty-eight."

"You haven't any business wasting your life on such a lonely, ill-paid job as the Forest Service has to offer you."

"It's far better than being a pin-feather lawyer starting to death in a city while waiting for clients who never appear—or who, if they do appear, never enough money to pay me my fee. Besides, I had tuberculosis. I had to get out of the city."

"Oh, I'm sorry!"

"I don't suppose I had it any worse than 85 percent of my fellow men and women have it. It was chronic—upper lobes of both lungs—and it didn't bother me until I began to suffer from lack of nutrition."

"And was the legal life as bad as all that, Mr. Garland? Or shall I call you Anthony—no, Tony. I like that better."

"So do I. I hope we're going to be good friends and neighbors, so by all means let us dispense with formality, Monica. . . . Yes, the legal business was not only as bad as all that, but worse. When I started an exclusive diet of coffee and sinkers the little 'T.
B. bugs' knocked me down and kept me down."

"You poor old Tony boy!"

"A doctor told me I had to go to a warm, dry climate. He recommended Arizona, and I secured a job as forest guard in the Cocopah National Forest.
It was pretty hard going for the first month, but after I drew my first month's pay and invested it in blanket and diversified grub, it was really astounding the way the chinks in my superstructure began to fill up. Down in the Cocopah they used to call me Tony the Lunker. They quit that the past two years, however."

"It wasn't healthy for them—and the exercise did me a world of good."

"I'll get you a glass of milk—half milk and half cream," Monica suggested. "Would you like a little jug of very fine moonshine whisky in it?
I'll do you a lot of good," she added sagely.

"Thanks. I like it very much. Is the moonshine your own product?"

"Heavens, no! Uncle Charley Caul-field, who lives over on the other side of Dogwood Flats, makes it from a recipe that's been in the family for generations. He gives me 10 gallons every year, and I keep it on hand for snake bite and other emergencies. We have forest fires here every year, and when the fire-fighters are all worn out and ready to drop from exhaustion, I send a few large canteens of it down to them."

"And it's a life-saver, too," he agreed out of the depths of his own vast experience in fighting fire. "The government doesn't furnish it and it's impossible to get it now, but in the old days a wise firewarden always regarded a case of whisky as part of his fire-fighting equipment."

The girl went into her cabin and emerged presently with the milk and cream in a tall glass and a smaller glass brimming with moonshine whisky.
The ranger sipped the whisky. "Whoever Uncle Charley is, he's entitled to my respect, Monica. This mountain dew is as smooth as your own fair cheek."

"You're different," said Monica simply. "Fill your canteen with it. It's only for visitors and puddings and egg-sauce for sick folks."

"I think you're the angel of Bogus," he declared, as he poured the liquor into the milk.

"The women in this country think I'm a bogus angel."

"Well, I do not."

"Why should you? Anybody can see you're not an old woman."

He chuckled at her wit. "I'm sure the men swear by you, Monica."

"And I swear by them. The only friends I have are men, and I have yet to meet one who wouldn't protect me and be a real friend in time of need."

"Tony, what are you going to do when you get old?"

"I suppose I'll be cremated in a forest fire and save funeral expenses."

"But surely you're not going to be a ranger all your days."

"I hope not. I have ambitions to become chief forester."

"And go down to the forestry office in San Francisco? Well, that's a good job, Tony. It pays about six thousand a year, doesn't it?"

He nodded. "Meanwhile I'm saving some money. I never want to go down to the city again and risk being hungry."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood
Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY when me and Jubilee were at the window, me letting him down by the rope in his teeth, and him looking up at me there in the window in my shirttail, and showing in his eyes that he thought me the most beautiful master in the world, anyone would not have known that it had ever rained.

After I got the dummed brutes milked and the sun had come out there was not a cloud in the sky.

All the bunch was in the barn waiting for me when I went in to feed my face, and Spider Gutwalz said if I would swipe two pancakes for him he would show me a trick. When I was feeding my face I asked my grandfather what kind of a fish that was he thought we caught and he said it wasn't a fish, it was a submercan. Then my aunt said: "What did grandpa say, Thomas?
Aristides when the pole broke?" They all looked at me and my father scowled at me and shook his head, and I said, "Grandpa said, 'Oh, my goodness!
Isn't that pranking!' I never heard my family laugh so loud, and my grandfather got a piece of bacon crossways in his throat and turned blue in the face, and I swiped four pancakes and an egg and slid them into my briches, pocket without anyone seeing me. When my grandfather got to breathing again he said: "That was worth two bils," and he laid two bils on the table. I looked at my father and asked him, "Can I keep this, or do you want to borrow it to go with my dollar you owe me?" Then they all laughed again and my father got red and told me to let my vitals stop my mouth. I certainly made a bit this morning.

When I got outside and gave Jubilee his two pancakes and the egg, which had not been fried as hard as it should have been and which busted in my pocket, I asked Spider what his trick was going to be. He ate the pancakes, and said "Now turn your back to me and stoop over and reach your hands back between your legs as far as you can." I knew that one. He was going to take hold of my wrists and give me a hard upward jerk and I would turn over and land on my feet. So I didn't wait. I backed up a little and grabbed his ankles and jerked his feet forward between my legs, and he set down on his bunzel so hard it jolted the world. I looked around to grin at him and his sister Meely swung her back on their strap and blammed me in the face with them so hard that I saw a lot of little green stars shooting around.

Feeble says my face looks like the wreck of the Heperus but is an improvement over what it was. Meely and Spider shan out.

"Some Round Valley Indians saying," he elucidated. "I saw quite a cavalade of them coming in last night.
They camped in Tatum Meadows."

She glanced at him brightly. "Suppose we have a concert," she suggested.

Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco will be on the air now."

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Guesses Identity

THE girl who had called herself Eleanor Lincoln caught her breath in terrified amazement when she stalled her confession of identity by telling her that I already knew she was the Princess Olina of Transylvania. In truth, I was a little short of breath myself, for the whole affair of which this girl was the central figure was so fantastic that I felt a certain kinship for Alice in her invasion of Wonderland.

"You know," she gasped at last.
"Who told you? Not George? Did he?"
There was anger in her voice now, and I hastened to exonerate the young man against whom I was sure her wrath was directed.

"If by 'George's' you mean Mr.
George Logan Jackson," I said smiling, "I can give you a negative answer at once. He did not tell me you were a princess of Transylvania."

"I'm glad of that," she said, "for he promised he'd say nothing until I was ready to talk. But I know he will not object to my telling you that he is really Prince Georges, nephew of the King of Trees. But, perhaps, you knew that also."

"No, I did not," I returned. "When I suspected your identity after realizing that you and he must be old friends, I surmised, of course, that he belonged to your rank in life, but I had no idea who he really was."

"So you have been seeing the truth about us from the very first," she said, a distinct note of chagrin in her voice.
"Either I was very clumsy, or you were exceedingly shrewd."

"I think you are wrong on both of these premises. I just happened to stumble upon some very significant clues."

"Fedor, for one, and that picture Mrs. Townsend saw for another, I suppose," she answered, then settling herself more comfortably she added:

"Please, tell me all about it, when you first suspected the truth, and what made you finally sure?"

The words were a request, yet in her tone there was a note of command, faint, almost indistinguishable, and I was sure, not intentional. But I realized that in this abandonment of the mask she had worn, she was subconsciously again the princess, accustomed to the deference of those about her.

I smothered a feeling of irritation, for I wished to hear her story, not to relate my discoveries, and told of her my early suspicion that the dog, Fedor, was her own and that she and young Mr. Jackson were old friends.

"It was easy to see that both of you were not natives of this country, and that you were people of rank in your own," I told her. "When Mrs.
Townsend spoke of having seen a picture of someone resembling you with a dog exactly like Fedor, I could not help surmising from your face and later from your objection to Dick's drawing you in a similar pose that the picture might be that of yourself." Later Mrs. Townsend discovered the copy of the picture among her photographs and brought it to me insisting that you must be the Princess Olina or some near relative of hers. Mrs.
Underwood told her that she had received a letter from a friend in Transylvania saying that the Princess Olina was in her native land, and I pointed out to Mrs. Townsend that while everything else in the picture was exactly like you, there was one facial detail entirely different."

The ghost of a smile flickered in the great velvety eyes of Princess Olina.

"I suppose you mean my poor face," she said putting up her hand to that perfectly shaped and definitely attractive feature.
"Yes, I do," I said. "Until today I still had doubts of your identity, and that account. Your pictures show the famous Hapsburg nose so characteristic of your family, but which can in no manner be construed as a thing of beauty. While yours is perfect."

Complete Plans For Third Annual Marion-Bucyrus Relays

ANY RUNNERS WILL
KE PART IN EVENT
ATED FOR MAY 30

Will Take Possession Trophy Awarded by Charles Isaly

Marion runners will Charles Isaly trophy on the third annual intercity relay.
The annual event have been sponsored by F. O. Rudolph, owner of the Y. M. C. A., and will be started by local runners in the near future. Selection of this year's event will be made at the annual meetings. Both cities have won the trophy in previous meetings.
The Y. M. C. A. colors carried the trophy a close race. The first year it was held by Bucyrus. It can easily be seen that the 1928 relay will be a hotly contested event.

According to present plans the runners will start in Bucyrus with the finishing line being at the court house here. The distance measures 19 miles.

Not More Than 36 Men
Not more than 36 trackmen can represent each city, according to the rules of the event. Each man will be compelled to run a distance of one-half mile.

The trophy cup which will find its final resting place in a place of honor in either Marion or Bucyrus was offered by Charles Isaly, local businessman, when the relays were first started three years ago. The cup at the present time rests on the trophy shelf at the Marion Y. M. C. A.

It is considered likely that one of the local high school coaches will be asked to take over the training of the Marion team. A number of men have been working out on the Y. M. C. A. indoor track for the past month getting into condition.

The running of the relay is a big event for each city concerned. Large crowds gather at the finishing tape to see the end of the contest. After this year's event, members of the two teams will be taken to the Y. M. C. A. where a feed will be given.

Jackson, Of Giants, May Be Next Home Run King

Tampa, Fla., March 27—Ty Cobb and John J. McGraw have been agreeing to disagree, over a long period of years, on almost every point in life's pin cushion, the probable exception being, in all, one. Most people think they both agree that Ty Cobb was and is still quite a ball player. Of recent years, too, both have mellowed to the extent that no longer do they deem it good deportment to engage in glaring contests at ten paces. Instead, they shake hands like little gentlemen, ask about the family and Aunt Susie, talk the small talk of the usual hotel lobby meeting and altogether comport themselves according to the book. But that hasn't made them a couple of companions, either.

New Home Run Man
The other day, Cobb was quoted as declaring that the successor to Babe Ruth as a home run hitter already was in the offing and that he didn't mean Henry Louis Gehrig. The man he is supposed to have named is Travis Jackson.

This was good for an SOS in the sport code, two short and one long, from our Mr. McGraw, in spite of the fact that Jackson is his star shortstop, field captain and favorite ball player. John, as a matter of fact, thinks so little of the idea that he seriously doubts that Cobb actually expressed it. No man, he says in effect, can replace Ruth unless he is a left hand hitter.

"Nearly all of our parks are so constructed that the left field bleachers are further away from the plate than are those in right field," McGraw declared. This alone would stop Jackson or any other right hand hitter from even approaching Ruth's home run totals.

"Jackson, in fact, is a dead left field hitter, which eliminates him automatically, even if he had Ruth's power behind his drives, which he hasn't. However, I'll say this for Jackson: He hits a tremendous ball for a man of his comparatively light poundage and he probably does so with less effort than any man in the game. He is a wrist hitter of the old school, and when he gets hold of one, with that snap and leverage of his, the ball surely starts going and almost forgets to stop.

"But another Ruth? Hardly. Jackson is one of the finest ball players I've ever seen but that sort of thing isn't in his line."

END OF FISTIC TRAIL LOOMING FOR FORMER LIGHT-HEAVY CHAMP

Mike McTigue, Gallant Irishman, Is Outpointed by Veteran Boxer

New York, March 27—The end of the fistic trail loomed today for Mike McTigue, former light-heavyweight champion of the world. The gallant Irishman, now nearly 40 years old, was out-pointed by Tony Marullo, of New Orleans, in a 10-round bout here last night.

Although many maintained that the bold Michael was entitled to a draw, his blows were sadly lacking in power.
The man who severely punished many a heavyweight only a year or so ago, was unable to hurt Marullo, who is a ring veteran himself.

TUNNEY'S OPPONENT

Tom Heeneey (above), Australian heavy, appears as the logical man to be designated by Gene Tunney as his next opponent. Practically unknown a few months ago, Heeneey has beaten all the best in the division and shapes up as the most likely man to meet Gene in July.

O'DOWD TO FIGHT
San Francisco, March 27—"Midget" Mike O'Dowd, Columbus, Ohio, featherweight, will mix it with Tony Mandell, protégé of Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, in the 10 round main event bout of a boxing show here Friday night.

A pat on the back is not a slap.
The meaning of each is entirely distinct.

TUNNEY'S OPPONENT FOR SEPTEMBER TO BE JOHNNY OR TOM

Risko and Heeneey Will Meet in Final Elimination
For Bout

New York, March 27—Folks who have been worrying about the opponent for Gene Tunney this fall can now cease wringing their brows. For the champion's rival this September, barring accidents, will be either Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker boy, or Honest Tom Heeneey, the blacksmith from down under.

Today Jess McMahon, Tex Rickard's matchmaker, will go before the New York State Boxing Commission and tell them that he has the consent of both Risko and Heeneey's managers to the battle, and that the winner will be given the Tunney shot. He may take the signed contracts of the two managers before the fistic fathers to back up the statements.

Risko and Heeneey will meet at the Yankee Stadium on June 17, and the much maligned heavy-weight elimination tournament will at last produce an opponent for Tunney, even though there may be folks who disagree with calling either man a fit challenger.

Charley Harvey, manager of Heeneey, finally consented to the Risko match and the last obstacle to the battle was removed.

Took Much Time
But it took considerable time and trouble to convince Charlie that Honest Tom must eliminate Risko before getting the match. Only after a long telephone conversation with Rickard in Miami, in which Tex told Harvey that a battle with Tunney right now was out of the question, and that Heeneey must beat Risko to earn the championship scuffle did Charlie break down and promise to sign the papers.

Harvey was most interested in knowing whether there would be any more "last fights" to the tourney after the Risko affair, and what Tex told him seemed to suit Charley. No today Harvey will probably sign for the Risko fight and likewise autograph a contract giving Tex the services of Heeneey for a Tunney fight and still another promising Tom's exclusive fistic rights for one year in the event he beats Gene.

Danny Dunn, manager of Risko, hopped off a train from Cleveland early this morning and hot-footed it for the Garden. Dunn has already agreed to a Heeneey battle for his man, and he will put his signature on the documents at once. He will also sign the same sort of "future" as Harvey and then McMahon will haul his handiwork in front of the commission.

While all this was going on, the Jack Sharkey-Jack Delaney battle came into being in the week hours of the morning, when Joe Jacobs, manager of Delaney, called McMahon and told him that everything was agreeable to him for the scuffle, which will take place at the Garden on April 30, the opening show after the circus leaves.

CIVIC ASSOCIATION IS ORGANIZED HERE

Nine Marion Men Elected to Executive Board at Banquet-Meeting

With the general welfare of Marion; that the chief reason for the existence of this committee shall be the dissemination of true and accurate community information after careful study and intelligent, unselfish analysis; that the presidents of all the civic, service, business, labor, art, literary and other clubs and associations included in this proposed membership shall become and are hereby designated as the board of presidents of the Marion Civic Association; that the newly-elected presidents of these participating organizations shall automatically succeed their predecessors on this board of presidents; that annual meetings of all members shall be held on the call of the executive board, members of which shall serve until their successors are duly elected.

The resolutions then nominated the members of the executive board named above and cited their duties as an advisory board.

Cross-Section of Sentiment
The board of presidents referred to in the resolutions is to be made up of the presidents of all organizations invited to participate in the Marion Civic Association. Through this board of presidents it is believed that the executive board of the association will have a true cross-section of the sentiment in the city on all matters of civic, political, financial and community interest.

Last night's meeting was the second step in the organization of the Marion Civic Association.

Just two weeks ago yesterday the Marion Rotary Club invited to its annual civic meeting the heads of some 50 local organizations. Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, spoke on "Civic Blood Pressure." So completely did Editor Patterson take the civic measure of all cities the size of Marion and so fully did he point out the ailments of these cities that a movement got under way scarcely before he had completed his address to push Marion forward.

Band Provides Music
Jesse H. Mason, president of the Rotary Club, was requested to name a committee to study plans for such an organization and also to arrange for a banquet-meeting. This committee was headed by Judge Scofield and included C. Z. Zachman, R. T. Lewis, Roy Moore and George Frank. This committee was responsible for last night's banquet. The members solicited 20 business men who contributed sufficient money to provide for last night's banquet.

The banquet last night was served by the women of the United Brethren Church. During the banquet members of the Kadgur Grotto Band provided music for the guests. The band appeared in uniform.

Members of the executive board of the association had not yet announced today when they would meet for the first time and organize.

BUILDING INSPECTOR SOON TO BE CHOSEN

Appointment Ordered Before April 1 by City Council; Salary Provided

Appointment of a building inspector before April 1, was assured by City Council at its meeting last night, when an ordinance providing for the transfer of $1,800 from the contingent account of the general fund to pay the salary of the inspector for the remainder of the year, together with the sum of $200 for expenses, was passed by that body.

Because of the fact that the building season is near the ordinance was made an emergency measure with instructions to the safety director, to make the appointment before April 1.

The ordinance provides for the appointment of an inspector for a trial period of three months. Should the department work out satisfactorily, a civil service examination will be held and a permanent appointment made. The successful appointee will be required to furnish a bond of $2,000.

Sewer Work First
The inspection of cross sewer connections with a view to eliminating the pollution of Rock Swale ditch, will be given first consideration by the inspector. Two men, in all probability, will be required to carry on this work, one to place colored material or dye in a sanitary receptacle and the other to watch at the manhole in the street to determine which sewer is serving as the outlet.

Chief Engineer F. H. Waring, of the State Board of Health, at a recent meeting here, suggested that if this method of detecting the wrong connections does not work out as rapidly as it should a firm of engineers should be brought in with a large corps of workers and the inspection cleaned up in 30 days. It was his idea to have the work completed by the end of the summer in order that the work of making the corrections could be started in the spring.

In addition to inspections of sewers, the work of the inspector, for the present, will be concerned chiefly with the inspection of chimneys and electric wiring, a broader program to be adopted, with the preparation of a regulation building code. Building at the present time, to a large extent at least, is being governed by the state codes.

COLLEGE EDITORS QUIT. PRINTING IS REFUSED

Hanover, N. H., March 27.—Claiming that the above were immoral, the printer has refused to print the Tower, Dartmouth's bi-monthly literary magazine, and in despair two of the editors resigned.

William A. Hunt of West Hartford, Conn., editor-in-chief, and Paul D. Maclean of Helena, Mont., member of the editorial board, quit because they said they were disgusted with the handling of material of literary value, while the publication of salacious material, disguised as humor, is permitted by the laws of New Hampshire.

CITIES PIN HOPES ON EXPERT IN GAS FIGHT

Counting Upon Testimony of Columbus Man to Furnish Final Evidence

Marion and other Ohio cities engaged in the fight against increased gas rates sought by the Logan Gas Co. are counting upon testimony of Harry R. Allenworth, Columbus state expert, to furnish final and convincing evidence winding up their side of the case.

This was indicated at Columbus yesterday by Grant E. Mouser, Jr., assistant attorney general and counsel for the city of Marion in the rate controversy.

When the state utilities commission resumes its hearings in the gas case on April 2, Allenworth will testify that the company's valuation of its working capital is at least $500,000 too high and that the company's appraisal of $14,100,000 for leaseholds should be greatly reduced, Mouser said.

The cities side of the case will be virtually completed with presentation

A Joy Glass

To start the day right To eliminate the waste

When you rise in the morning feeling dull it is probably because the system is clogged with poison and waste.

Eliminate that poison as quickly as you can. This is the easy, pleasant way.

Drink a glass of water, hot or cold. Add a little "Epsomade." That will make a sparkling drink. The result is to flush the intestines.

Don't wait. Don't say, "Tonight I will correct the conditions." A day will be lost. Correct them in an hour.

Then remember that the same results can come any hour of the day. Any hour you need them. They come from acids of lemon and grape.

Let a test show you what "Epsomade" means. It will be a revelation. Get a small quantity, at small cost, at your druggist's.—Advt.
